Blaktroniks:

Are still living and recording in Oakland, trying to combine their daily routines with family life. While Member X is trying to recover bit by bit from the loss of his home during the real estate crisis (where amongst others– now moaning German small investors purchased credits), Member XX took upon a greater leadership role being teacher in a public school. And if, in the meantime, Member XXX is building his own robots like planned hasn't been confirmed yet, but what's sure is one of the two new tracks is titled..

... Robo Bop

its name is its motto: a blend of music in between Robo and Bop. Apart from the few lyrical fragments, it's again an instrumental, after the vocal-dominated CD "Mechanized Soul" - and like always Blaktroniks surprise with never-heard musical structures and soundinventions - simply anti-formula-music and so is the b-side:

... The Edge

a halting, deepened and groovy digital Funk (33 rpm on this side :)), which was taped by EPS1 including a recording of his father Edward Robinson stating his point of view about "globalism in the US". To get a better understanding of what this is about: EPS1 has been using mobile recording gadgets for years to be able to tape and to incorporate daily life sound documents into his music.later ...
